The Walk: 3 miles of manly flat easy walking (don't be fooled by the title) mostly on well made paths. The Surrey Hills is an area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, so you will have the pleasure of some wonderful panoramic views over the North Downs and surrounding scenery.

The Venue: A beautiful timber-framed mill, which dates from Medieval times, its situated on the River Tillingbourne and surrounded by stunning countryside. In recent years its become a pub / restaurant, serving classic and modern meals. The owners have gone to great lengths to preserve the character of the building, with its jumble of nooks and crannies, ancient creaking floorboards and forest of oak beams.

More importantly, it has a great selection of real ales, you can enjoy an afternoon on the Tea and Biscuits, which might not sound too exciting, however they're supplied by the Hogs Back and Loxhill breweries!

If a liquid diet isn't enough, their Sunday menu includes roasts and other classic pub food, you will need to book - 01483 20360 or online - <https://www.brunningandprice.co.uk/gomshallmill/>

There is a garden and adjacent car park. If the pub is fully booked the Compasses Inn is next door!

OS Grid Reference: TQ 0856 4787

Directions: The pub lies on the A25 in Gomshall, which is in-between Guildford and Dorking.

Public Transport: Gomshall Railway Station is a couple of minutes walk from the pub.
